

Supply Management Trainee

What is it?

Our Supply Management Traineeship (SMT) is all about brewing, packaging and delivery. This is a 6 months programme starting in August 2023. The focus is on improving process and efficiencies in our breweries and our logistics/supply chain – all to help us stay ahead of the pack. It's where you can make a big difference to our impact on the environment and focus on innovation.

What does it include?

Over 6 months, you'll experience life at the heart of a brewery, where you will have hands-on experience in producing great beers we are famous for and learn first-hand the technical and practical challenges that affect various departments, including Logistics, Quality, Packaging, and Brewery Operations. Through inspiring projects at multiple locations and departments you'll get a broad view on our supply and business operations. Take the initiative and you'll soon be leading a team of your own. The 6-month programme is designed to build your leadership, project and general management skills. You will get the opportunity to work on 3 different projects, each ranging between 4-6 weeks, held in different breweries and/or logistics operations within the country you are applying for, which will give you a 360° view on our Supply Chain.
